Pull on your boots for Middleton by Walking

During this month's October half term a week-long, family walking festival will be held based around Middleton by Youlgrave. It will include various walks and activities specifically with children in mind.

This first year of walks will focus on the Sites of Meaning and includes the Riddle of the Stones for young adventurers and code breakers. There will also be two promenade talks, – 'the Story of Sites of Meaning' with Charles Monkhouse, who devised and led the project, and stories about the stones around Middleton that inspired Sites of Meaning, called 'Other Stones – Other Meanings'.

Also planned are activities including children's games and a pop-up café serving walkers' fare. We hope visiting and local families alike will come along and join in the fun.

They are keen to find more unwanted apples and if anyone would like them to pick their unwanted apples (from the tree and windfalls) next year, please let me have your contact details and number of apple trees. ## Innovative designer returns to Asquith Studios

You may well remember that Youlgrave well dressers submitted a design to the first Royal Horticultural Society Flower Show held at Chatsworth in 2017. The design was rejected but when 2018 came round it seemed a good idea to celebrate the life and work of Brian Asquith ten years after his passing. The team at Holywell recreated the design in June.

Long Rake Spar offices now reside at Asquith Studios on Alport Lane and have always shown interest in sharing with their visitors and passers-by the fact that Brian worked from these Studios.

Anne Croasdell and Phil Smith, who together designed the well, presented Trevor Broadhurst with a framed photograph of the dressing for display in their reception on 24th September. The Studios have been beautifully re-fitted and are teeming with commercial activity. Trevor told us of exciting plans for a plaque to be placed on the roadside end wall commemorating Brian.

WATERWORKS PAYMENT REMINDER

Please report vandalism and anti-social behaviour

After a spate of vandalism and anti-social behaviour on the playing field, including damage to the pavilion and toilet block, Youlgrave Parish Council is appealing to residents to report any incidents in the village to the Police by calling 101 (or 999 in an emergency).

The Police have made it clear that unless they are directly notified of problems they will not regard Youlgrave as a priority and not routinely attend. Following recent damage to the pavilion roof and handrail, repairs to the pavilion are likely to cost the Parish Council a considerable amount of money – which of course is public money, in other words YOUR money.

The Police are unable to take 'secondhand' reports of incidents made via parish councilors, for instance, so if you see suspicious activities or damage taking place please ring 101 straight away. Although you will be asked for your name, your personal details will be kept confidential – but only by passing on this information will the Police then take action. Thank you.

Do you know what the Duke of Edinburgh's Award is really about?

You don't have to complete the Duke of Edinburgh's Award through school. We run a group in the village where you can come along with your friends and learn new skills, face challenges and have fun together.

If you are in Year 9 or above we'd love you to come along and find out what you can achieve. Please feel free to bring friends along, too.

We will be holding an open evening on Monday 22 October at Youlgrave Scout & Community Hall at 8pm for anyone wanting to find out more, and please bring parents along too. It's open to boys and girls, so come along and meet us.

Close finish in the annual Wilf Lincoln match

The annual pre-season friendly between Bakewell Town and Youlgrave FC took place on 24th July for the Wilf Lincoln Trophy.

Both sides put on an entertaining encounter for the watching public as Youlgrave played hosts on a baked, scorched pitch which had been worked on prior to the game in order to get the surface playable. On 25 minutes, and after a few early sighters, Town took the lead through a Taylor shot from the edge of the box that eluded Shimwell in the Pommie net.

Bakewell and Youlgrave teams, plus spectators.

Youlgrave were seeing plenty of the ball, however, and were on top in midfield areas, aided by a clever tactical switch by Bacon that utilised Bradbury in behind the Town's left wing back. Having forced a corner, Figg's low delivery found its way to Clark who swivelled and placed his shot well to draw the sides level on 32 minutes.

Half time came and went with Brissett added and he immediately looked lively operating on the top flank. Steadily Town improved their quality and when Pykett unleashed a rocket to beat Shimwell's despairing dive they were ahead again on 55 minutes.

Youlgrave continued to trouble the visitors and as the clock ticked down. They overloaded the back post and a pinpoint cross was dispatched by D Mellor as Town were pegged back again with 5 minutes left to play.

The home team weren't done, however, and when Bradbury beat the offside trap his cross shot looped up and over the rooted Crapper, only to cannon off the bar and be cleared to safety. The chance was gone as referee Wood blew his whistle to set up a penalty shootout.

Some excellent penalties were put away, with both sides scoring their allotted five and taking the game to sudden death. Finally Youlgrave's seventh kick was missed and Fletcher placed his own safely in the corner for Town who retained the trophy for the eighth consecutive year. Full time 2–2, Bakewell won on penalties 8–7.

Thanks again to the hosts, Youlgrave, who worked tirelessly to get the game on and all the spectators who watched and donated to the collection for the Alzheimer's Society. With both clubs also donating their players' match fees to such a good cause, £250 was raised for Meadow View Nursing Home at Darley Dale. Mrs Lincoln would like to thank everyone involved, including those who donated but were unable to come and watch.

News from All Saints' School, Youlgrave

Pictured above: Last month the School was delighted and honoured to receive a visit from the Reverend Canon Carol Coslett, the Archdeacon of Chesterfield, who was shown around the school, met the children and Governors, and led Collective Worship. We were particularly thrilled at her visit because it's the first school in Derbyshire that Archdeacon Carol has visited since taking up her post earlier this year.

Stained glass windows

Two years ago, the children at Youlgrave Primary School were asked to design some stained glass windows for a church in Ypres to remember WW1. This summer I went to Ypres with my dad and brother to see the windows. When I arrived at Ypres it was very busy. We booked a campsite on the outskirts of the city and then headed off to the centre. We thought the cathedral was a tiny church on the street. Then we asked a woman where the cathedral was and she told us it was round the corner and you wouldn't miss it. When we went round the corner, we saw that it was humongous! We entered the magnificent building and the stained glass window was absolutely amazing. There were parts of it which were collected from the First World War (or the Second) when it was sadly destroyed. We walked in while Reverend Louise was talking about the war and sad things that had happened. Then she invited us to pray. I was fascinated by the amazing artworks on the stained glass because they stood out from everything else. After that, I got my photo taken by the Youlgrave website. It was a really memorable trip and I'm so glad that I got to take part in making the windows. Evie O'Neal, Year 5

Road to nowhere – episode 2

...This is only necessary because I used highlighter pen to mark the road on the map, which then failed to show up when the article was printed in last month's Bugle! It was great to chat with several of you who have stopped me to talk about 'the road to nowhere' and other historical paths, such as Lover's Path, which I know as the Saxon Path, in Bradford Dale. I hope all those interested noted the local history course being offered by the WEA and the new village History Group that has been established (see pages 14-15).

The circled area on Bradford Road. which some will remember as 'shop corner', is the top of the track which then swoops down to and then crosses the river and leads to the tarmacked section that goes to Greenfields.

Churches in Youlgrave: Good neighbours

Visiting people is one of the huge privileges of my role, and recently I seem to have spent more time than usual being invited to visit people facing various kinds of difficulties. And as I have listened and watched, I reminded use ages of how your blocked I feel to be part of this have been reminded yet again of how very blessed I feel to be part of this community.

Wherever I go, whoever I visit, I regularly find that there is a huge amount of 'good neighbourliness' going on quietly in the background; people helping out in practical and emotional ways, helping with shopping, or housework, or transport, or simply visiting and chatting, or asking after one another. I meet people who take such neighbourliness for granted because they have never lived anywhere else. And I meet people who have lived elsewhere and realise how unusual and how precious it is. And I am grateful to them all, for they all help remind me how blessed we are to live in a place with a strong sense of community. And that reminds me of the responsibility I have, as I believe we all have, to try to support and strengthen all that is good in our community.

So whether you have lived here all your life, or only been here a few months or years, I hope you will join me in taking just a few moments to give thanks for our community. And I hope that, with me, you will want to make a private commitment to doing your best to make it even better!

Yours in Christ,

Louise Petheram rev.louise.p@gmail.com 01629 636814

Please pray

For all those organising, taking part in, or attending, harvest activities and services throughout our villages.

For individuals and families who rely on Foodbanks and the generosity of others to get by from day to day.

For migrants, refugees and the homeless.

For Patrick and Sarah, married last month.

Remembrance Sunday

This year, to commemorate the centenary of the ending of the First World War, we are going to have a single Remembrance Service on Sunday 11th November at Youlgrave. We believe that the young men from our villages would have lived together, served together in the same regiments, and died together. So on this historic occasion, we want to remember them together. The names of the dead from all four churches will be read at this service and, in addition, there will be a simple Act of Remembrance at the war memorials in Birchover, Stanton and Middleton.

Memorial candles at Christmas

If you would like to remember someone with a Memorial Candle in Church at Christmas, you can order these from November. Please put 50p per memorial candle in a sealed envelope. On the envelope please write:

Donor: Your name

In memory of: Your loved ones name/s.

From November, sealed envelopes can be left at the Post Office or the Village Shop. Please order your candles before 11th December.

Unfortunately we can only supply memorial candles if we have received your 50p per candle to cover the cost.

If you have any questions, please contact Catherine Birch on 636083.

WELCOME TO YOULGRAVE HSTORY GROUP

Hello and greetings!

We are a newly formed group of local people interested in finding out and recording more about the history of our wonderful village of Youlgrave. Hopefully many of you will have seen our bright yellow posters on the village notice boards and maybe met some of us at our stand at the Spring and Autumn village hall fairs this year. Our aim is to record and preserve village history through the memories, stories and photographs of Youlgrave residents past and present as well as doing our own research and projects. We have lots of ideas for research projects we would like to do – so watch this space for updates!

Our first project has been a collaboration with the WEA to present a 7-week course on Researching Village History. It started in September and I am very pleased to report that the course has attracted students from Youlgrave and surrounding local villages and is already becoming a fun and sociable way to learn how to study our local history. I am hopeful that it will encourage some exciting local history research that we will be able to share with you in the future.

Below is a very interesting study from one of our Youlgrave History Group members, Chris Shimwell, about the very early records of our villages existence, just to wet your appetite for more forthcoming local history morsels.

YOULGRAVE IN THE DOMESDAY BOOK – THE FIRST RECORD OF OUR VILLAGE

In 1086 William the Conqueror commissioned a survey of England to determine the extent and value of the land, settlements and population of the country of which he had been king since 1066. He gave control of a large part of Derbyshire to Henry of Ferrers, a knight who had accompanied him in the invasion of England 20 years before. Youlgrave was a recognised settlement in 1086 in the control of two Saxon overlords.

Here follows the Domesday Book entry for Youlgrave – named Giolgrave – as it was written in Latin and an English translation: (Domesday Book, Derbyshire, Phillimore 1978)

In Giolgravehbr Colle etChetel XII boutrae ad gld. Tra III car.lbi in dnio m III car. I uill cu I car et I molin V folid et IIII den etIIII ac pti. TRE ual XXXII fol. m XVI fol.

In Youlgrave Colle and Ketel had 12 bovates of land taxable. Land for 3 ploughs. Now in lordship 3 ploughs. 1 villager with 1 plough

1 mill 5s 4d, meadow 4 acres.

Value before 1066, 32s: now 16s Glossary: one bovate was the land which could be ploughed by one ox in a year. Usually accepted to be 15 acres. Thus 12 bovates was approximately 180 acres.

TRE: tempus regisEdwardi – In King Edward's time ie before 1066.

The Domesday Book entry does not record a church in Youlgrave, but a mill valued at 5s 4d (27p). This is almost certainly the mill at Alport close to the confluence of the rivers Lathkill and Bradford and the 4 acres of meadow was probably alongside the river Lathkill. Although land for 3 ploughs is recorded, probably for tax purposes there only seems to be one villager wealthy enough to own a plough and the Norman conquest doesn't seem to have done much for the value of land.

We have no indication as to where the actual village was located, but the subsequent siting of the church on a crossroads may be an indication and Hall Farm just on Conksbury Lane is probably very old. There are however lynchets – medieval field systems on Hopping Farm near Mootlow indicating activity in that area also.

Of the two Saxon overlords, Colle and Ketel, Ketel also held land in Harthill and Gratton but no subsequent records of him seem to exist, whereas one Robert Colle is reputed to have been instrumental in the founding of the first church in the mid 12th century and donated the church at Youlgrave to the Abbey of St Mary in Leicester in 1150 (J and M Bartlett. 1987). Colle's family obviously flourished under their Norman overlords.

About half the land in Youlgrave parish is taken up by Meadow Place Farm and Calling Low Farmand the latter may give us a clue as to where Colle lived. Coll –

Meadow Place Grange

"ing" (Saxon suffix meaning dwelling) Low (meaning high eg Minninglow). Thus "the dwelling of Colle on the high ground"

Youlgrave Community Land Trust Conksbury Community Orchard

In the September issue of the Bugle the Youlgrave Community Land Trust explained that the land for the orchard in Hannah Bowman Way is owned by the trust for the benefit of the village and is a community asset. The orchard is open for all villagers and we would welcome people visiting the orchard. The trees were all donated by people with connections to Youlgrave and many of them are dedicated to loved ones.

We would request that the trees are treated with respect and no activity takes place which could cause damage, such as ball games, as the trees are still young and vulnerable. We would also ask that neighbouring properties are not disturbed. It should also be noted that the ground is uneven and care must be taken when in the orchard.

On Saturday 13th October from 10am until 12 noon we will be having our next working party mainly to attack invasive weed species but also to have a general tidy up. We would love to have more villagers helping on these occasions or just coming along to find out more about us. If you can help please wear strong footwear and gardening gloves and bring a garden fork or spade.

Youlgrave Wildlife Notes: September

Summer is now over and at last we have had some welcome rain. In spite of the lack of water, the fruit and berry crop is exceptional this year. Our apples have never been so plentiful or of such high quality and our rowan tree is so heavily laden with bright orange berries that the branches are hanging down. Usually by this time the blackbirds have stripped the rowan, but they've hardly touched it yet as there's so much other food around.

I was concerned that the dry summer might have affected our hedgehogs as there would have been a shortage of worms and slugs. However I recently saw a very large hedgehog wandering on the pavement near the Old Hall. I tried to pick it up to move it to safety, but it was too heavy to lift just using a hanky. I came back shortly afterward with gloves but it had gone. The same evening there was another large one on our lawn snuffling and grunting. Others are regularly being fed at Alport.

Butterflies have been plentiful this year with the following seen: small tortoiseshell, gatekeeper, wall brown, common blue, holly blue, red admiral, painted lady, peacock, small copper, comma, speckled wood, brimstone and various whites. A humming bird hawk moth concludes an impressive list.

Birds of prey have been widely reported this month. Buzzards, sparrowhawks and kestrels are common and peregrines have been seen several times including along the Coach Road and on a hedge in a Brookleton garden. Tawny owls have been seen and heard, but the most exciting report was of an osprey seen several times perched on a fence post off Moor Lane during both August and September. Along the river dippers, including three sat on top of a car at the bottom of Holywell Lane, and herons can be seen. The kingfisher has made a welcome return and has been seen from the dams down to Alport.

Swallows and martins could be seen well into the month, but a surprise was two swifts, on the 1st, presumably on their way south. On garden feeders goldfinches have been particularly common with 20 being reported from Alport. Bullfinches, woodpeckers, nuthatches as well as all the more common birds have provided interest.

The wild flowers are becoming fewer, but autumn hawkbit is still blooming in my lawn where I have still not cut to avoid the orchids which are now seeding nicely. There are some lovely spikes of purple loosestrife by the river towards Alport and still some mints in bloom.

Finally what was the road accident victim near the Limestone Way crossing above the village? It was a largish member of the weasel family. Mink was certainly a possibility or maybe a polecat. The body had mysteriously disappeared by the time I got up there. The photo lacked a head – my research continues!

My thanks as always to this month's contributors, Laeticia, Richard, Cath, Pat, Tony, Simon, Leslie, Phil, Lisa, Paul and Mike. Please keep the observations coming in.

Maurice Oldfield – a talk by Martin Pearce

On 11th October the WI and guests welcomed Martin Pearce to Youlgrave to talk about his Uncle, Maurice Oldfield. Maurice was born in Youlgrave but soon moved with his family to a cottage next to the Lathkil Hotel in Over Haddon. Maurice was one of seven children born into a local farming family and Maurice was expected to continue that lifestyle. However, it soon became evident that he had a very smart intellect and exceptional memory, and after studying languages at Manchester University was recruited to the Foreign Office and then MI6. It has been suggested that he was the inspiration for John Le Carre's fictional character George Smiley, possibly the most lovable fictional spy. Throughout his life, and despite travels all around the world, Maurice maintained close ties with his home and when he died in 1981 was buried in Over Haddon churchyard.

Martin gave a fascinating account of the research he has conducted in order to write his biography Spymaster which had introduced him to many people, including politicians, former MI6 employees and the literary world.

The audience thoroughly enjoyed hearing about 'the local lad' and many had personal memories of Maurice. For those who did not, the talk was a fascinating insight into a secret world.

The weather has been very kind to us and we are able to get another silage crop – and if we get an Indian Summer maybe there will be enough grass for more. This weather has kept the cattle grazing outside, as there is grass to eat with out supplementing them with the winter feed.

It has been a sad time for some of our farming acquaintances, losing loved ones though illness. Farming can be a lonely place to be when something like this happens, but there is quite a good back-up at the market. There are certain qualified people to talk to that will help you, and you also make many life-long friends by just going into the market cafe and seeing and talking to them most weeks. Last week someone who I have known only for a short time gave me a little plant – this was so nice of them.

Very often when you miss seeing someone that is usually there it is because they have either had new knees or hip replacements. These seen to be the most popular with the farmers, myself included.

On Sunday 28th October at the Agricultural Centre in Bakewell there is a Farmers' Harvest Festival. This is always a good turnout and to hear the singing in the cattle ring is great. And before you know it there will be the Christmas fat stock and service.

100 years ago: NEWS FROM THE HOME FRONT

October 1918

At the start of the month the Allies were advancing on the Western Front up to three or four miles a day. There was still heavy resistance, with carefully sited machine gun pill boxes giving defence in depth. The logistics of advancing over battle torn ground and repairing and extending rail supply tracks and roads for advancing troops was a major operation with Royal Engineer and Pioneer Battalions working strenuously – autumn and winter weather was arriving.

On 1st October Field Marshall Hindenburg was calling for his government to agree an armistice. On the 4th the Germans liaised with American President Woodrow Wilson asking for terms on which the Allies would grant one. On the 8th, President Wilson listed his 14 points on a basis of ending the War and securing a lasting peace. On 29th October mutinies and ill-discipline in the German Navy was manifest. Workers throughout Germany, who had been showing signs of unrest for some time, intensified their demands for peace. Prince Max and Hindenburg concluded that there was danger of an open revolution.

On 30th October Turkey was granted an Armistice by the Allies.

Youlgreave Timber Women – undated, unknown newspaper source

Miss Jackson described a visit she took part in recently to the Youlgreave district, where she saw 30 women working in the woods. They worked there all last winter, the spring and the summer, and were engaged in sawing timber for pit props.

The only men were a foreman and two others, who were in charge of a motor wagon. The foreman told her that five women could do the work of four men. They were Youlgreave women, and they walked two miles to their work every day. She also paid a visit to the women working in the rick fields at Frysdale, and she was told that if it had not been for the efforts of the women the work could not have been kept going. "There is no fear of the women of Derbyshire funking their work," said Miss Jackson, "even under disagreeable conditions. The Derbyshire woman is as plucky as anybody. You have only got to give her a helping hand and we shall then be able to give you a good deal more help." (Applause)

The Chairman said he could assure Miss Jackson that the farmers would give her all the help they could.

The Youlgreave 1914-1918 Community Group

Four years ago the Group put on a display of memorabilia and artefacts kindly loaned by local parishioners in All Saints' Church. We are planning to run a similar event this year, between 7th and 14th November, to mark the end of the centenary commemorations. This will include memories of events we have held as well as trying to demonstrate what we have learnt along the way – about ourselves and the community as well as the First World War.

If you have anything which you feel would contribute to this: tin hats, uniform items, letters etc., not just from the Front but any other aspect you feel to be relevant, we would love to hear from you.

As last time, anything offered will be treated respectfully and kept securely in locked cabinets. There will be more fully researched information about local people who fought or m a d e o t h e r contributions at home.

More information in next month's Bugle.

Preparations for Armistice Sunday are also underway in conjunction with All Saints' Church and the Youlgreave Royal British Legion

Youlgreave Casualty

The 1/6th and 1/8th Battalion Sherwood Foresters were engaged in heavy fighting in the autumn of 1918 – last month we remembered local soldier Private Isaac Evans (Bellicourt British Cemetery Grave III L4). On 3rd October the 1/6th Battalion lost their commanding officer. Lt. Col. B.W. Vann, who had played football for Burton United and Derby before being ordained as a priest in 1912, was killed in action at Ramicourt and is buried in Bellicourt British Cemetery (Plot11 Grave 01) close to Private I. Evans.

On 17th October the 1/8th were in action again attacking the heavily defended village of Regnicourt. In this successful attack they sustained 21 killed and 89 wounded, including local soldier Lance Corporal Arthur Bacon 92795, son of William and Sarah Ann of Calling Low, Youlgreave. Arthur rests in Vaux-Andigny British Cemetery (Grave A 11). A family headstone in Youlgreave churchyard to his brother Oswald, who died aged 33 on November 17th 1918, also records Arthur, 'Who fell in action in France aged 26'.
